GMCW™ Announces New Super Automatic Espresso Machines

Louisville, KY – GMCW™, a leader in the beverage and foodservice equipment industry, announced that it has expanded its product portfolio to include Super Automatic Espresso Machines. GMCW has exclusively partnered with Italian-based N&W Global Vending to bring Necta branded Super Automatic Espresso Machines to the US. Up to this point, N&W's Super Automatic Espresso Machines have primarily been available in Europe with only limited distribution in the US. GMCW™ will offer the Korinto and Kobalto models, each of which allow the user to create a variety of specialty hot beverages using fresh coffee beans, solubles, and fresh milk (optional).

According to the NCA's 2012 National Coffee Drinking Trends Study, past-day espresso-based beverage consumption doubled from 7% in 2010 to 14% in 2012. This indicates increasing customer demand for specialty coffee beverages and an opportunity for operators. GMCW is pleased to offer their customers a solution that will allow them to profitably serve café quality espresso-based beverages in non-café environments. GMCW/N&W's unique solution to specialty coffee allows operators who were once limited by budgets and staffing to profitably enhance their current beverage program to include fresh cappuccinos, lattes, mochas, and more.

The Korinto and Kobalto models are currently available for purchase through GMCW. Both models will be on display and available for demonstration in the GMCW booth (number 2081) at the upcoming NAFEM Show in Orlando, FL.

N&W Global Vending is a world leader in the production of automatic snack and beverage vending machines and is a major international player in both the foodservice and the Office Coffee Services sectors.
